

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An exercise machine comprises a base, a machine frame mounted on the base, and one or more hand grips pivoted to the machine frame. Each of the hand grips is provided with a damping device which is fastened at one end with the base or machine frame, and at other end with a bottom end of the hand grip.